TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

I have just discovered a noise review is underway for drones.

I live in suburban Redhead 2290

I have experienced drones at low altitude flying over our property and the suburb in general.

The noise is irritating and intrusive particularly when there is a low ambient noise level.

I would submit that the important factor here is not just the measured noise level but the relative change in levels.

I suspect most of the instances we have experienced are from Real Estate drones.

Our local council would surely be the most appropriate body to assess the effects of drone noise as they are on the ground and can assess the relative noise levels ie quiet suburban v industrial area v busy road etc.

Thank you

Robin and Eileen Blackmore.
